
Champagne & Sparkling

(125ml glass)

1. Corvezzo Organic Prosecco (Veneto, Italy) – €38 / €7 glass

Fresh, fizzy, and a little flirty. Bursting with green apple and pear, it's like a garden party in a glass—easy, breezy, and irresistibly fun.

2. 'Eugenie' Crémant de Limoux (France) – €70 / €12 glass

A fizz with lemon zest, green apple, and a layered notes of delicate brioche - from the birthplace of sparkling wine, Champagne's breezy cousin always brings a vive-de-carnival, without the overdraft.

3. Beaumont de Crayeres NV (Champagne) – €90 / €15 glass

The life of the party, dressed in bubbles. Crisp, elegant, and just a little bit fancy—like that fearless friend who "accidentally" wears black-tie to brunch.

4. Moët & Chandon NV (Champagne) – €125

The Marilyn Monroe of Champagne—smooth, golden, and always makes an entrance. Pop this when you want to feel like you're in a yacht scene (even if you're on a couch).

5. Jacquart Brut Rosé NV (Champagne) – €130

A rosé that winks at you from across the room. Elegant, cheeky, and impossible to ignore—like catching someone's eye at a Parisian café.

Wines From the Barrel

(175ml glass)

6. Viña Aljibes Verdejo – €7.5 glass

Zesty, fresh, and just a bit wild—like a skinny dip at sunset. Bursting with citrus, green apple, and a wink of herbaceous sass. Who says wine from a barrel can't play?

7. Terre di Sicilia Nero d'Avola – €7.5 glass

Dark, juicy, and full of Sicilian swagger. It's got the charm of a sun-drenched vineyard and the attitude of a leather jacket—ripe cherries, a hint of spice, and zero apologies.

8. Cantine Povero Nebbiolo – €9 glass

Elegant, earthy, and just a bit brooding—like the poet you ghosted but still think about. Notes of rose, tar, and red fruit wrapped in a tannic hug. It's got depth, drama, and a killer finish.

9. Château Pesquié Rosé – €10 glass
Light, breezy, and a little bit bougie - like a picnic with the perfect lighting. Think wild berries, rose petals, and enough charm to keep you coming back in autumn.

White Wines – Crisp & Zesty (175ml glass)

10. Montgravet Sauvignon Blanc (France) - €33 / €8 glass
Sunshine in a bottle with a mischievous streak. Think lemon zest, sea spray, and a cheeky grin—like a summer fling you can't forget.

11. Koangi Sauvignon Blanc (Marlborough) - €36 / €9 glass
A slap of passionfruit, a punch of lime, and a fresh ocean breeze. This wine is the extrovert at the party—loud, lively, and impossible to resist.

12. Castelnau Picpoul de Pinet (Languedoc) - €35
Salty, fresh, and effortlessly cool—like that person who always looks good in sunglasses. Sip it beside the sea (or pretend you are).

14. Rizzardi Pinot Grigio (Veneto, Italy) - €36
Picked from the sun-kissed plains of Veneto, where the vines thrive under the watchful eye of the Alps. Light, breezy, and dangerously easy to drink.

White Wines – Elegant & Mineral (175ml glass)

15. 'Les Coches' Chardonnay (Pays Doc) – €35 / €9 glass
Like a whisper of limestone and green apples. Sophisticated but approachable—the kind of wine that reads the Business Post but still knows how to party.

16. Domäne Wachau Grüner Veltliner (Austria) – €45
Peppery, fresh, and a little bit brave—like hiking through Austrian vineyards with a picnic basket and no sleeping bag.

17. Chablis Defaix (Chablis) – €66 / €17 glass
Razor-sharp, mineral-driven, and cooler than an ice bath in Aspen. This wine doesn't just walk into the room—it glides.

White Wines – Aromatic & Unique (175ml glass)

18. Fritz Haag Riesling (Mosel, Germany) – €39
Sweet-talking with zesty stone fruits, and impossible to put down. A little sweet, a little tart, and totally addictive.

19. Pionero Albariño (Rías Baixas, Spain) – €45
A coastal breeze in a glass. Crisp, bright, and just salty enough to make you crave another sip—like a seaside kiss.

Rosé (175ml glass)

20. Bosco Rosé (Sicily, Italy) – €32 / €8 glass
Juicy, sun-kissed, and easy to drink. The kind of rosé that makes you say, "Wait, did I just finish the whole bottle?"

Red Wines – Light & Approachable (175ml glass)

21. Paper Road Pinot Noir (Marlborough) – €48 / €12 glass
Silky, earthy, and just mysterious enough. Think red berries, forest walks, and a hint of intrigue—like a love letter from your favourite writer.

Red Wines – Medium & Versatile (175ml glass)

22. Montgravet Merlot (Gascony, France) – €31 / €8 glass
Soft, juicy, fruit-forward, and uncomplicated. Goes with everything, especially a second bottle.

23. Seixo Amarelo Reserva (Douro, Portugal) – €32 / €8 glass
A hug in a glass. Rich, smooth, and deeply comforting—like your Portuguese mother-in-law's home-cooking.

24. Madrigal Malbec (Mendoza, Argentina) - €36 / €9 glass
High up in Mendoza where the air's thin and the sun hits different, this Malbec comes out swinging — bold, dark, and just spicy enough to start a tango on your tongue.

Red Wines – Bold & Structured (175ml glass)

25. Marius Red (Languedoc, France) – €32
Bold, playful, and unmistakably French. Like a romping Montpellier winger this wine won't always win over the crowd but he will certainly 'try'. Allez les bleus!

26. Valderivero Crianza (Ribera del Duero, Spain) – €43
Dark, spicy, and intense—like a flamenco dancer mid-step. This wine doesn't just sit in your glass; it performs.

27. Decoy Zinfandel (Sonoma, USA) – €65
Jammy, bold, and unapologetically extra. Like a Hollywood blockbuster—big, loud, and ridiculously fun.

Red Wines – Premium & Age-Worthy (175ml glass)

28. Mazzei Ser Lapo (Tuscany, Italy) – €59
Sangiovese with swagger. Dark fruit, Tuscan sun, and a finish that goes on longer than an Italian goodbye.

29. Calice de St Pierre Châteauneuf-du-Pape (Rhône) – €70
A wine with a PhD in complexity. Rich, spicy, and deeply philosophical—like a late-night debate with your smartest friend.

30. Baron de Brane Margaux (Bordeaux, France) – €85
A wine in a tailored suit. Polished, refined, and effortlessly classy—like the Bordeaux version of James Bond.

31. RODA I (Rioja, Spain) – €99
Velvet fruit, voluptuous spice, and everything nice. Like a Segovia Spanish-guitar solo; smooth, passionate, and impossible to forget.

32. David Duband Pinot Noir (Burgundy, France) – €115
Silky, elegant, and clinically French. Like wearing Chanel to a picnic—unnecessary but oh-so-worth-it.

33. Château La Pointe Pomerol (Bordeaux, France) – €147
Luxury in liquid form. Bold, seductive, and worth every cent—like drinking from the Holy Grail (if the Holy Grail were filled with Merlot).

Zero Alcohol(175ml glass)*34. Hollow Leg Cabernet Sauvignon – €24 / €6 glass

Juicy, bold, and all the flavor—without the hangover. Think dark berries and a smooth finish, perfect for when you want the taste of a rich red, minus the alcohol.

35. Hollow Leg Albariño – €24 / €6 glass

Zippy, citrusy, and dangerously crushable—with none of the booze and all of the beachy vibes. It's like a seaside holiday in a glass, minus the flight and the lost luggage.
